A PROCLAMATION,

BY His EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Executive Department of North Carolina.
RALEIGH, March 7th, 1870.

By virtue of authority vested in me by the Constitution of the State, and by virtue of an act passed at the present session of the General Assembly, entitled "An Act to secure the better protection of life and property," ratified the 29th day of January, 1870, and for the reason that the civil authorities of the county of Alamance are not able to protect the citizens of said county in the enjoyment of life and property, I hereby proclaim and declare that the county of Alamance is in a state of insurrection.

On the 26th of November, 1869, a citizen of the United States, who was engaged in teaching a school in said county, was taken from his house by a band of men armed and disguised, and was by them cruelly beaten and scourged.

On the night of the 26th of February, 1870, a citizen of said county was taken from his house by a band of men armed and disguised, and was by them hanged by the neck until he was dead on the public square in the town of Graham, near the Court House.

And more recently the Postmaster at Company Shops, in said county, an officer of the government of the United States, was compelled to flee the county, and while absent a band of men armed and disguised visited his house, with the purpose, doubtless, of taking his life; and this within a short distance of federal troops stationed in said county, not to overawe or intimidate good citizens, but to preserve the peace and to protect the innocent and the law-abiding.

In addition to these cases information has been received at this department that peaceable and law-abiding citizens of the county aforesaid have been molested in their houses, have been whipped, shot, scourged, and threatened with further visitations of violence and outrage unless they would conform to some arbitrary standard of conduct set up by these disguised assassins and murderers.

I have issued proclamation after proclamation to the people of the State, warning offenders, and wicked or misguided violators of the law to cease their evil deeds, and, by leading better lives, propitiate those whose duty it is to enforce the law. I have invoked public opinion to aid me in repressing these outrages and in preserving peace and order. I have waited to see if the people of Alamance would assemble in public meeting and express their condemnation of such conduct by a portion of the citizens of the county, but I have waited in vain. No meeting of the kind has been held. No expression of disapproval even of such conduct by the great body of the citizens has yet reached this department; but, on the contrary, it is believed that the lives of citizens who have reported these crimes to the Executive have been thereby endangered, and it is further believed that many of the citizens of the county are so terrified that they dare not complain, or attempt the arrest of criminals in their midst. The civil officers of the county are silent and powerless.

The laws must be maintained. These laws are over all. Every citizen, of whatever party or sex, must be absolutely free to express his political opinions, and must be safe in his own house. These outrages and these violations of law must and SHALL cease. Criminals must and SHALL be brought to justice. The whole power of both governments, State and Federal, is pledged to this, and this power will be exerted. Criminals who may escape to counties adjoining Alamance will be pursued, and if not delivered up by the civil authorities of said counties, or if sheltered or protected in said counties with the knowledge of the civil authorities, the said counties will also be declared to be in a state of insurrection.

I earnestly appeal to all good citizens to aid the civil authorities in maintaining peace and good order, and support me in my purpose to protect life and property without regard to party or color.

Done at the City of Raleigh, this 7th day [L. s.] of March, 1870, and in the 94th year of our Independence.

W. W. HOLDEN, Governor.

FARM-YARD SCRAPS.

Drainage deepens the soil.

Drainage lengthens the seasons.

Drainage warms the under soil.

Drainage prevents injury from drouth.

Drainage increases the effects of manures.

Drainage removes stagnant waters from the surface.

Drainage removes surplus water from under the soil.

Drainage prevents rusts in wheat and rot in potatoes.

Drainage prevents heaving out, freezing out, or winter killing.

Drainage carries down soluble substances to the roots of plants.

Drainage equalizes the temperature of the soil during the season of growth.

FOR FOUNDER IN HORSES.

Clean out the affected foot or feet, fill full of spirits turpentine, touch fire and burn them out. The horse will be well in a few moments.

FOR COUGH IN HORSES.

Clean out, and pare the frog of the fore foot—hold the foot up and fill with spirits turpentine—hold it up till it soaks in, then take the other up and do likewise.

CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA.

Feed your hogs on the ground with shelled corn, and while they are eating, sprinkle them plentifully with fresh slacked lime in a fine dry powder, until their hair is full of the lime. Whether it is what they eat with the corn or what they inhale, I am unable to say—probably both, but it has never failed to arrest the disease when tried. It should be done once a day until the disease disappears.

TO CURE WARTS ON HORSES, OR COWS.

Dissolve ½ lb. of alum in a quart of water; with a brush or cloth wet the warts twice each day for 10 days—they will disappear.

GRAVELLED HORSE.

Give two-thirds of a table spoonful of saltpetre in a little salt, for three consecutive days; or take a pint of water melon seed, and boil in two quarts of water, till reduced to nearly one-half, and drench two mornings in succession; your horse will be cured.

FOR SWEENY.

Take half an ounce Pulverized Cantharides (Spanish Flies,) put into half a pint Sweet Oil, shake well and apply twice a day. It need not interfere with the work of the animal.

FOR BOTS.

Drench the animal with half a pint of thin tar, which kills them instantly.

Another receipe: One half pint of whiskey, one half pint of gun powder, one-half pint of molasses, and one half pint of soft soap, will cure the worst case of bots. Another cure is, "a strong tea made of Mullein."

LICE ON CHICKENS.

Sprigs of cedar, scattered about the fowl house, will relieve them of this awful pest. Tar in the chicken trough is a preventive of disease.—Ex. Southern Cul.

FOR A BRUISE OR BLOW.

Apply hot water a long time with wet cloths. Beef brine is an excellent lotion for both sprains and bruises. A veteran among horses, claims, that it will almost set a joint or heal a fracture. Worm wood or tansy lotions are also good.

BLEACHING MUSLINS.

Mrs. S. H. Wood gives the following method in the Western Rural: Take 12 ounces chloride of lime to 10 pounds of cotton. Dissolve the lime in two quarts soft hot water. Boil the cloth in a suds water, then rinse it. Strain the lime into a sufficient quantity of water to immerse the cloth in. Let it remain in from ten to twenty minutes, then rinse well the cloth. Be very careful that no particles of lime go through the strainer. I have never failed with this.

SQUASHES.

Plant the last of this month in warm rich soil, in hills four to six feet apart, three plants in a hill. Hoe often and gradually hill up until the blossoms open.

THE TOMATO AND ITS CULTURE.

This delicious, delicately acid, cooling, healthful, and now almost indispensable fruit, is by careful culture, being brought to perfection; and instead of coarse, unsightly, spongy, seedy, ill flavored tomatoes.

Sow seed from the earliest ripened fruit in boxes, in March, when the spring opens sow seed for a late crop in the open ground, they will bear till frost comes,

When the rough leaves come transplant. Do not plant in the open ground, unless the plants are protected, till all danger of frost is over. They will flourish in rather light than heavy and rich, but not over rich soil. Hoe early and often.

The advantages of pruning have been questioned, but tomatoes grow best when pruned. Cut out all suckers, and non-bearing branches. Most of the fruit grows on the lower part of the vines, and there will be no loss by shortening them; for nutrition will then flow to fruit instead of making fibre.

Have your vines well supported with post or brush, so the fruit may be exposed to the free action of sun and air.

How a Man was Cured of Suicidal Inclinations.

Suicide having of late become so staple an item of current news that wives for their husbands, mothers for their sons, and young ladies for their lovers, are in hourly dread. The following story of the "older time," which has never yet appeared in print, and which demonstrates the efficiency of homeopathic remedies in the treatment of moral, as well as physical diseases, may not be devoid of interest:

About eighteen years ago an old farmer living in the neighborhood, being completely psychologized with the soul-ripping thought the spouse of his thorax was permitting his spirit image to mildew in the ventricle of the centre of her circulatory apparatus, while that of a far less worthy knight of the hoe hung conspicuously in the right ventricle of said organ, decided upon a voluntary exit from "these low grounds of sorrow" by means of a readily improvised gallows. Procuring a sea-grass rope, he selected a round pole joist in his log stable, and with great deliberation secretly fixed the "day and the hour" in which he would, with one end of the rope tied to his neck and the other end thrown over the joist, pull himself by main strength into eternity.

But in the mean time his wife, by hook or crook—probably by crook—not a black one though, for she was a white woman—discovered his purpose, and used her best "indeavers" to persuade him that he was her only "feller," and that she wanted him to "still live." But no. The "ha'r was set;" the primitive yeoman could not be "gulled," and was bound to go out. All the tearful entreaties of the "ole 'omern" had no more effect upon his "hard fisted" will than a straggling moonbeam would have on a polar iceberg. The time "having fully come" for the execution of his design, he gathered up his rope and went to the stable, his wife following with sobs and entreaties, and mournful ejaculations and screaming threats of "rasin the neighborhood."

At this juncture and just as the "dead-set" ruralist, having secured his neck in a noose, had flung the loose end of the fatal cord over the joist, his nephew, John Craig, a lad of about eighteen years, much distinguished for his sparkling wit and keen appetite for "devilment," rushed into the stable, quickly closed the door, hooking it on the inside, and shutting the old lady out. This done, the boy pounced with the celerity of a cat upon the free end of the rope, snatched it from the uncle's hands, triumphantly exclaiming:

"Now, Uncle, I'll be d——d if we don't show aunt Sally that she ain't smart enough to stop this business. I've always had a mighty hankerin' to see a man hung, and d——n old Roper if this ain't my chance. So, heave, oh! Up you go, old hoss." And John "hauled away" vigorously, drawing the old man about two feet from the ground, whereupon the latter frantically caught hold of the rope above his head and piteously gasped:

"Johnny, for God's sake let 'er down 'll give ye farm 'f ye will."

After choking his dangling, kicking flouncing uncle till—as he expressed it—he thought "the average was sufficiently reduced." John lowered him till he could touch his toes to the ground, and still holding the rope firmly in his hands, said:

"Old hoss, do you want to live?

"Y-e-s," was the willing but feeble reply.

"Will you swear that you'll never act the d——d fool this way again?

"I s-w-a-r 't, John, by a-ll 't's goo-d'n bad."

"And you'll give me a farm?" letting the old man a little lower down.

"Yes, Jonny, 'n' a hoss, too."

John then entirely released his repentant uncle and told him that he wouldn't have either the farm or the "hoss;" that he "jest wanted to teach him that life was wo'th sump'm, and that common sense was a handy thing to have about the house." John Craig may have been ignorant of the technical meaning of "similia similibus curantur," but he evidently understood its practicable application.

MORE FELLOW-CITIZENS.—The Dominican Republic has formally declared in favor of annexation to the United States. The vote throughout the country shows an overwhelming majority in the affirmative. The towns of Santiago La Vega and Azua led the demand for annexation. We have already negro fellow-citizens in superabundance, and President Grant wants to give us Indian fellow-citizens, and Pomeroy and Wilson female fellow citizens, but the climax will not be reached until we can call the thorough-bred Dominicans men and brothers.—Wilmington Star.

A FASHIONABLE SEASON IN WASHINGTON.—"Perley," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

In short, the fashionable season of 1869-70 has been a success, only clouded by some webs of scandal, woven by the gossip's tongues, which fly to and fro like the shuttle of a loom. Eh bien! The recording angel is said to have no jurisdiction in the District of Columbia, and if people who are sedate at their homes will act accordingly and copy the manners of the Court of the Grand Duchy of Gerolstein, they must expect to be talked about.

The Relapsing Fever.

This disease, which is now so prevalent in New York, is also raging in London, and has visited St. Petersburg and other great cities of Europe, attacking large numbers of people, it being exceedingly contagious. Its victims are found chiefly among the poor, ill-fed, badly-housed and dissolute classes of the community.

The symptoms are sudden headache, shivering and high fever, the pulse rising to 144 per minute in the course of twenty-four hours, and the heat increasing to 105 degrees. Excessive painfulness, especially in the shoulders and legs, continues for three or four days, and about the sixth, sometimes as early as the fifth day, after the onset, the patient begins to sweat so excessively that the temperature is reduced in the course of a single day to a point two or three degrees below the natural heat of the body, that is, down to 95 or 96 degrees. During the first stage of the fever there is usually much vomiting and disturbance of the bowels. Now comes on a period of rest, and the symptoms of disease disappear for a week or ten days, when they return and the patient suffers a more protracted attack than in the first instance. At the end of twenty-one days, if alive, the convalescent begins to hope that all is over with his sickness, and finds, on attempting to leave his bed, painfulness and excessive weakness of his muscles, a blanched and sallow skin, and an absence of all energy and strength, that make every hour and every day wretched and miserable, and if not carefully nourished and surrounded by good sanitary circumstances, is quite sure to have a second relapse. It is said that in London and St. Petersburg three, four and even five relapses have been by no means uncommon. The only treatment of any value is good nursing and good nourishment. It is a peculiarity of the fever that a large proportion of its victims so far recover from the first sharp attack that after six or seven days of sickness they rise, walk about and journey whether they please, and may so journey for a whole week, or more, not knowing the danger to themselves or others.

EXCITING SCENE IN A WHEELING CHURCH.—Last evening an immense crowd gathered at the Island M. E. Church to hear the Rev. Mr. Webb's sermon. It being the end of the conference year, more persons were in the church than ever gathered in it before. To say it was jammed full is only to give an idea of its crowded condition.

Just as the preacher had given out his text the joist under the centre of the floor parted with a crash like the roar of artillery, and the floor commenced settling.

The scene that ensued beggars description. Some rushed for the doors, but could not get out for the pressure of the crowd behind them. Women fainted, others uttered wild cries of fear and terror. Men tried to get out of the windows, or to push their wives out. One enterprising man, finding that he could not move the bottom sash of a window, and that the top one was partly down, climbed up the window and jumped out. He picked himself off of the ground somewhat ra ised.

As soon as the first scare was over, and the persons who had remained cool got the others quieted, all got out uninjured.

Fortunately, there is no basement under the church, and the floor could only sink about a foot before striking the ground. Had the audience remembered this, the excitement would have been unnecessary.

A BAD BEHAVED SCHOOL MARM.—A Yankee school marm, who has been engaged in teaching a colored school in this city for several months, was arrested yesterday upon a warrant issued by a justice of the peace, charging her with seducing a colored man, the husband of the colored woman at whose instance the warrant was issued. The testimony tended to prove that the parties were found in the same bed at the same time. The school marm appealed to the magnanimity of the colored lady, with many tears, and promised her that in case she would withdraw the prosecution she (the school marm) would never seduce the cullud gentleman again, whereupon the cullud lady relented and the case was amicably settled.

The school marm is fair, fat and forty, and the cullud gentleman, who was seduced by her charms, is between fifty and sixty years of age.—Savannah Republican.

Interview between Old Jessie Grant and a Republican.

Mr. Grant.—Are you the Marshall that wrote a letter to Senator Drake about me?

Mr. Marshall (smiling).—I wrote a letter some time ago to Senator Drake protesting against your confirmation as postmaster of Covington.

Mr. Grant (nervous and excited, and clutching his cane).—You dirty, rebel Democrat, what did you do that for?

Mr. Marshall (coloring somewhat).—I want you to understand, Mr. Grant, that I am no rebel or Democrat either!

Mr. Grant.—They told me in Washington you were a rebel Democrat.

Mr. Marshall.—Nobody told you that unless John S. Nixon did. I never voted for but one Democrat in my life, and that was Judge Kinkead.

Mr. Grant.—And you think I am not fit for postmaster at Covington?

Mr. Marshall.—I said nothing in my letter about your fitness or unfitness for the position; but you well know, Mr. Grant that a very small number of people in this city desire to see you enjoying that lucrative office.

Mr. Grant.—I suppose you would like to have the place yourself?

Mr Marshall.—I should not object to it.

Mr. Grant.—I have saved to the Government since I have been postmaster of Covington $5,000.

Mr. Marshall.—Yes, I suppose you have, but it has been done by your hiring clerks at starvation wages, when the Department at Washington allows all postmasters a liberal amount for clerk hire. With all your boasts about economy and saving money for the Government, I notice you never decline an increase of your own salary.

Mr. Grant.—You are a pretty Republican to be writing such letters as that about me.

Mr. Marshall.—I claim the privilege of writing what I please, so that it is the truth, and I will do it, even though it concerns the President's father or the President himself. Mr. Grant, I do not wish to converse any further on this subject. Good day.

The parties then separated. Father Grant probably thought that inasmuch as he had been unanimously confirmed he could afford to let Marshall go without the promised thrashing.—Cin. Com.

A good Northern man, who is ready to co-operate earnestly and vigorously with our society, will find a cordial reception every where in Virginia. One who is peering about; to see what he can make out of the accidents of our position, to improve his individual fortune at the expense of any or all of our citizens, ought to expect distrust. This class has been so numerous that they have been styled carpet-baggers.

Annoying, persevering, hunting selfishness is the leading characteristic of the class that has done so much to create a prejudice against the Yankee. They are peering about, constantly perplexed to know how, with the least trouble to themselves, they can get money, or land, or office. They do not seek assimilation with our society, by natural process. But they are on a constant hunt for a good crack in the structure, where they can be snugly put away.

Such are not fair specimens of the Northern character, and yet they are the sort most constantly thrust on our attention. Whether rich or poor, high or low, they are the real representatives of that class known as carpet-baggers. They do more, to keep up ill-will and bad opinions between Yankees and Virginians, than almost any other cause occasions. The term carpet-bagger implies by no means a constant Radical. Some of them parade the colors of Conservatism with a grand flourish. They are absolutely vivacious on that line.

Rich. Ex.

THE GENEROUS NORTH!—The Augusta Constitutionalist thus illustrates:

There is a great struggle pending to get one Southern man on the Supreme Court bench.

The North has the President; the North has the Senate; the North has the House of Representatives; the North has the Supreme Court—and all the foreign embassadors and consuls, &c., &c.

The North not only has Congress, but nearly every member of Congress, for the representatives from the South are chiefly Northern men—not merely men born in the North, but men with Northern sympathies—they are all iron-clad men. So is the South represented in Congress. She has neither the President nor the Vice-President, nor a single representative in the Cabinet.

And then we have a Northern man as Governor of South Carolina; a Northern man as Governor of Florida; a Northern man as Governor of Georgia; a Northern man as Governor of Louisiana; a Northern man as Governor of Arkansas; a Northern man as Governor of Virginia.

THE BLACK CADET.—The poor negro boy who has been appointed to a West Point cadetship, is more to be pitied than his white fellow cadets. It is to be feared that he will have "a hard road to travel." He has name enough if that will do him any good—CHARLES SUMNER WILSON! If that high sounding senatorial name does not pass him in triumph over all obstacles there is no virtue in Massachusetts nomenclature.—Richmond Whig.

The Girls of Japan at School.

Throughout Japan it is the universal custom for young ladies, when arrived at the age of fourteen or fifteen, to be placed in what may be appropriately called a finishing establishment. This establishment has the following among other peculiarities, namely: All the masters pay for the privilege of teaching, instead of (as in the case with us) being paid for their lessons. This makes the instruction a labor of love. Then again, to a certain extent, a Japanese young lady is allowed considerable freedom as to the selection of her instructors; so she generally prefers the best looking. A lady principal of one of our finishing establishments for young ladies would be not a little surprised if she could be suddenly transported to Japan, there to study the peculiarities of Japanese customs. She would find herself, not in a close, pent-up room, filled with girls bolt upright, each perched upon an educational stool, but in a delightful garden, fragrant with tea and flowers. She would see a number of little summer-houses, embowered in the midst of these charming vegetable products, for which Japan is so justly celebrated, brought to perfection by the most exquisite horticulture. She would see bright-eyed damsels, with cheeks pink as the roses, moving round her with graceful steps, each bearing a small lacquer tray with tea and cakes. She would see these damsels, with joyous smile and modest mien, wending each her way to a summer-house. In each of these summer-houses she would see a master or professor, either waiting the return of the refreshment bearing damsels, or else sitting by the side of one who had already come back. Japanese girls remain in educational seminaries of this kind until marriage, and they make excellent wives.

Wonderful Instinct of a Mule.

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette of the 22d says: "The mule has always been noted for his profound sagacity, but we yesterday heard of an instance that completely oversizes any 'mule case' yet reported in the papers. The mules attached to one of the cars of the street railway had always been in the habit of stopping at the stable on Eight street for their feed every evening at just 4 o'clock, railroad time. On Saturday evening the car reached the stable at half-past 3, when one the animals attached to it stopped and manifested a decided inclination to go into the stable. The driver used the whip vigorously, but without avail. The only evidence of life it brought forth from the perverse animal was the elevation of its heels in close proximity to his head. Coaxing was then resorted to with like success. The obstinate animal refused to budge an inch. Quite a crowd had by this time gathered at the scene of action, and a variety of methods were suggested for starting the mule, whose heels now began to fly around more lively. All efforts failed, however, until at length an idea occurred to the stable-keeper. He went in and brought out the watch by which the cars are run, and held it up in front of the obstinate animal's eyes. The mule gazed at it a moment. The hands of the clock showed that it lacked fifteen minutes of 4 o'clock. The animal fully satisfied that 'time' had not been called, immediately started off on a lively trot for the end of the track. He reached the stable on his return trip at just 4 o'clock."

Sounds From Home.

There is scarcely a Virginia exchange which comes to this office in whose columns we do not find such well-considered and forcibly expressed views as these from the Winchester Sentinel:

A "middle party," much as it has been ridiculed, is precisely what we want; one that will avoid the extremes of the other two. A new party, if you will; one that has no war record, but taking things as they find them, with no memory of past antagonisms, will seek the best interests of the entire country, without regard to sections. We have the nucleus of just such a party now; let us stand fast by it, and it will soon assume national proportions. Conservative is the very name for it; it indicates moderation and toleration, virtues unknown to the rival parties of the day, and yet essential to peace, prosperity and happiness. Governor Walker foreshadowed just such a policy in his inaugural. Let him be true to it, and he will be sustained.

A MYSTERIOUS VISITANT. The Roanoke News learns that a gentleman living in the vicinity of Scotland Neck has recently been visited by robbers both of a persistent and mysterious character. Some eight or ten nights since he heard some noise in the direction of his smokehouse, and himself and overseer going out to see about it, found that the door of the smokehouse had been broken open, and while examining this were fired at by some party near at hand; the fire was returned, but the party escaped. Every night since watch has been kept upon the premises, and several nights shots have been exchanged. One night last week the mysterious visitant attempted to carry off a buggy, was fired at by the overseer, and the latter passing into the road had a tussle with the thief, he making his escape, however, without being discovered. The would-be robber is, we learn, still paying his visits.—Raleigh Standard.

WEDNESDAY,...MARCH 16, 1870.

☞ Pogue wants 1000 flour barrels.

☞ The Coffee crop this season is very large.

☞ Bad Whiskey is afloat in Asheville. Fences are built across the street at night and gates and signs taken off their hinges.

☞ The Mayor of Fort Gaines, Ga., recently adjourned his Court by knocking two Aldermen and the Clerk under the table.

☞ Ten Radical Congressmen are implicated in the cadet swindle and one democrat. The Rads ahead as usual!

☞ A little girl in Dayton, Ohio, was lately attacked by two ferocious dogs and literally torn limb from limb.

☞ The oldest old woman in Harnett county is an old negro named "Peggy" who is now "gumming it" in her hundred and fourteenth year.

☞ An old miser in New York who dressed in rags as though he wasn't worth a cent, and couldn't get one by begging, died recently worth $200,000. He had a plenty of poor kin, but like many other rich folks that prefer willing their property to wealthy strangers rather than to their poor kin, this old miserly "cuss" willed his $200,000 to the United States and then died.

☞ The Editor of the Raleigh Sentinel who has been visiting about Salem, N. C. saw at High Point 7000 patridges alive and boxed for the New York market. These birds cost 20 cents a pair. The Editor further says that Stokes county sent the first Missionary to "Greenland's icy Mountains" in the person of the Rev. Mathew Stack, deceased, and that Utah sent the first Mormon Missionary to Stokes and Surry, who seems to have proselyted 150 ignorant creatures and put them on the road for Utah. The Editor says they are all radicals. If this be so, God bless 'em for leaving, whether they run from the lash of justice or go as converted Mormons.

☞ Billy Smith of the Central Road is a much better man than many of those who abuse him. He never "drinks behind the door" nor is he ever afraid to speak out the truth that is in him. Much ado has been made over his telegram about carrying off negro labor from this State. Let these negro hawkers be as particular in giving facts on other parties. We happen to know that in a certain section—democratic one—the planters were so enraged that they instructed their overseers to shoot down the first negro agent they caught hovering around their fields. We do not believe Billy Smith is a radical. We believe him a hard working white man and a generous and honorable one at that. We say this in justice to him. And we would be false to every good virtue within us, (if we have any,) not to speak in defence of a man whom we not only believe to be a gentleman but who—unsolicited—has done us many kindnesses and favors for which we are certain he expected no return.

The Editor of the Asheville Citizen says he caned the State's Solicitor (Mr. Lusk,) for that district recently, and while applying the cane the Solicitor drew a pistol and gave him a slight flesh wound in both arms. Thoughtless man! to attempt to cane a man without arming with a "barker."

The Greensborough Patriot says that Prof. Word will resume his profession of "tripping on the light fantastic toe" in a few days. We are glad to hear that the Professor is again O. K. He will die in harness whenever he shuffles off this mortal coil.

Rufus J. Rimer, of Rowan, supposed to be mentally deranged, recently murdered his mother by beating her brains out with a stone and then burning her up. His attempt to hide the murder by burning the body implies "a method in his madness."

The Disabilities Bill

Which "pardons" many of the most obstreperous secession simmers South, having passed Congress and become a law, we (the senior) glanced over the list of names to see if ours was there—but we couldn't exactly "see it." We however did see the name of an old sinner who got mad with us before the war and stopped his paper because we opposed secession. He's all right now, we suppose, but we must continue "unpardoned." By the way, wonder if a fellow can go to heaven unless he is "pardoned" by the saintly rascals who are stuck up as "the powers that be" on this mundane earth? If not we (the senior) are in a bad fix, for we never expect "pardon" from the saints on earth until we come flat down on our stomach and beg for it, which will not be this side of the crack of doom.

The Junior Editor of this paper is the author of "Steady in the Centre." He believed what he said; he meant what he wrote. There are two factions in this State. There is no real well organized political party in this State. The radical party (God save the mark!) is already to flinders. The democratic party (what is it? what composed of?) is already dead like the maiden that died—but unlike the maiden—with no one to cry talitha cumi! and raise it up from its dead ashes.

And the result is there is a mixture of democratic and a sort of conservative whitewashed republican old line whig element in battle array fighting against a wing of corrupt wretches in power yclept radicals who have already disjointed and fallen to pieces from the inate rottenness that a too ripe ignorance and a mellow degradation of gentlemanly morality has bred in their bones. In fact there is now no radical party in this State. Then what is this combined mixture making war against? We answer, the wind. There is nothing to fight. Like the billious spots that float before a sick man's eyes this radical party is floating about in the stink and noisome nothingness of space and the contempt of time and the loathing and cursing of a bound to come eternity. Its own rottenness is its Golgotha.

Now is there any sameness of name and community of principle in the multiform factions who stand with stopped nostrils over the decayed chunk of radicalism? No. Some swear they are whigs and will never be a democrat; some vow they are conservatives, neither democrats, whigs, nor radicals; some swear that they are republicans, neither whig, democrat, conservative, nor radical; and others swear and be teetotally done for that they are democrats now and forever world without end—amen. This is a very interesting situation—a devil of a mixture truly. And then to talk of any well organized political party in North Carolina! ha, ha!

But there must be—there will be—there is already a party forming on a platform whose base is laid on action and principle. IT IS THE PROGRESS PARTY. Its tenets are simple. A child can understand them. First: submission to the civil laws of the State and the reconstruction laws of the United States. Second: a free right to all to worship after their own religion and to vote after their own political belief. Third: only good and sensible men shall be put forward for office; men who will work for good—sincere men—sunburnt men—charitable men—who will neither the more shy at the coarse russet of a common laborer than dance attendance on the back of a nabob in purple. On such a platform the good and honest hard working people of North Carolina can stand. We care not whether they call it a third party or not. It is the party we believe in and even if it be dubbed "a third party" why it then will have more name than any other party organization in this State has got: for some say there is a democratic party; some swear no! there is a conservative-democratic party; and others swear they will not be called a democrat no matter how they vote. Yet all are united against the radical party and the radical party is now laid out dead in the mortification of its own putrefied carcass.

Then it stands to reason that the parti-colored factions of decent and honorable men who have been warring against an enemy, too nasty to even make a decent fight and so filthy as to sink and drown in the cess pool of riot and ignorance and confusion, shall unite upon a common platform of the same name and the same concordance of principle. IT IS THE PROGRESS PARTY. Peace, good will, law, and order to all men, and good and sensible men for office—no matter how humble be their station in this life. This party is bound to govern: for a God of right backs it!

The Raleigh Standard demands of us the proof of Wyatt Outlaw being hanged by negro ku klux. We refer to the evidence of the negro woman present at the seizure of Outlaw by his executors. We were not there, and spoke only from hearsay, as we did last week in chronicling the arrest and committal of seven negroes upon the charge of aiding in the execution of Outlaw. We told the tale as it was told to us, without vouching for it. There are so many lies afloat that we are not willing even to vouch for the hanging of Outlaw. Sheriff Murray, of Alamance, avers that several colored men have been arrested and imprisoned for disguising themselves on the night of the murder and WHIPPING three COLORED men! Doesn't that look ku kluxish? If they WHIPPED three may they not have HANGED one, while disguised?

The Standard announces another hanging in Alamance. Has it the "proof" at hand? If so "let us have it."

☞ THE MOST elegant kept hotel in the South is the SPOTTSWOOD HOTEL in Richmond. Good board, cheap fare, and decidedly the most genial and polite landlords we ever saw. Nearly all North Carolinians put up at this excellent House.

The Grand Consolidated Farce.

The grandest farce recorded in the page of history recently occurred in the House of Representatives of our Legislature, in the arraignment and examination of Gen. M. S. Littlefield, as to his guilt or innocence in bribing members of that 'incorruptible' body. Littlefield was hauled up—reminded that he was not bound to answer questions criminating himself, and examined without being sworn, as we see it stated. Premising that is true, we ask why was this? Why were certain members so opposed to the General taking an oath to tell the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth? Why was he tacitly told to tell only what he pleased? And what meant the rejoicing of the anti-oath members when the witness was dismissed without proof of members having been bribed? The 'chuckling' was as significant as their opposition to swearing the witness. Both implied "something rotten in Denmark."

Understand us—we are not blaming the General. If he bought up one half of the Legislature with whiskey and old clothes, or even greenbacks, he wasn't bound to tell it—to those who had been bought!

Our old friend Swepson—the best financier in the United States, whether broke or unbroke—"come to time" when the Governor called him, but his business was such he could not abide the tardy action of the pea-nut-cracking, ginger-cake-eating and whiskey-drinking Legislature; so he left Raleigh before the seargent-at-arms called for him to testify. "Swep" is a business man—and a perfect money-making machine—time is money with him. 'Swep' knew the examination would be a farce, and saw no use in wasting time.

"Ostracism."

Senator Lindsay who is every inch of the way from Rockingham county has opened his precious mouth in favor of "Ostracising and expelling Ex-Gov. Vance and family from respectable society." Our private impression is that the talents of this Rockingham senator would be equally as well employed at his home even in bellowing boo woo at a 'possum up a gum stump.

☞ Gov. Holden has applied to the President for more troops to quell lawlessness in some of the counties in this State. We appeal to our people—the influential and honest and intelligent among them—to frown down this uprising of thoughtless young Hotspurs and riotous and grog demented creatures who are now playing out a scene of blood and horror in the dark which they were too cowardly to enact when the open daylight of honorable war was upon us.

Several Advertisements unavoidably crowded out.

The Mechanism of Man.

In the human skeleton, about the time of maturity, are 165 bones. The muscles are about 500 in number. The length of the alimentary canal is about thirty-two feet. The amount of blood in an adult averages thirty pounds, or one-fifth of the entire weight.

The heart is six inches in length and four inches in diameter, and beats seventy-times per minute: 4200 times per hour: 100,800 per day; 36,772,200 times per year; 2,665440,000 in three score and ten; and at each beat, two and a half ounces of blood are thrown out of it; 175 ounces per minute; 635 pounds per hour; 7¾ tons per day. All the blood in the body passes through the heart in three minutes.

The lungs will contain about one gallon of air, at their usual degree of inflation. We breathe, on an average, 1200 times per per hour; inhale 600 gallons of air, or 24,000 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of the lungs exceeds 20,000 square inches, an area very nearly equal to the flour of a room twelve feet square.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is three pounds and eight ounces: of a female,, two pounds and four ounces. The nerves are all connected with it, directly or by the spinal marrow. These nerves, together with their branches and minute ramifications, probably exceed 10,000,000 in number, forming a "body-guard" outnumbering by far the greatest army ever marshalled.

The skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one-fourth to one-eight of an inch in thickness. Its average area in an adult is estimated to be 2000 square inches. The atmospheric pressure being about fourteen pounds to the square inch, a person of medium size is subjected to a pressure of 40,000 pounds.

Each square inch of skin contains 3500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may be likened to a drain-tile one-fourth of an inch long, making an aggregate length of the entire surface of the body of 201,1666 feet or a tile ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long.

Man is made marvellously. Who is eager to investigate the curious, to witness the wonderful works of Omnipotent Wisdom, let him not wander the wide world round to seek them, but examine himself. "The proper study of mankind is man."

General Breckinridge on the Ku Klux.

LOUISVILLE, March 9, 1870.

Gen. Breckinridge, in a cirminal case at Lexington, Ky., denounced the men who belong to the Ku Klux as either idiots or villains, and asserted that he was free from any fear of them, and would readily respond to a summons from the Sheriff as one of a posse comitatus to arrest and bring these men to justice.

EDITOR'S CORRESPONDENCE.

ON THE WING, March 10th.

THAT EDUCATED HOG.

We saw "Wicked Ben" in Petersburg. For our readers benefit we'll tell the naked truth on Ben—the hog;—he's a perfect trump of a hog. The smartest out. Did anybody ever dream that a hog could be taught such things? Well. He is a white Chester; 4 feet long, 150 pounds heavy, and has a clear shining hazel eye. He is 4 years and 7 months old and was littered near Baton Rouge, La. His master exhibited him in a great many funny and surprising tricks. For instance, he had numbers from 0 to 20 and he showed Ben off as a Mathematician. "Ben," said he, "what is the third of 21?" The hog took the figure 7 in his mouth and gave it to his master. His master then borrowed a watch and showing the face of it to Ben asked him what time it was? He took up in his mouth the figure "4." "How many minutes after, Ben?" he asked. Ben took up the 2 and 0. The gentleman looked at his watch and it was exactly 20 minutes after 4 o'clock. We then saw him play a hand of cards. And he played the game well. A spectator in the crowd played with him. Such a hog, such a hog! This is a time of wonders certain. For in

NORFOLK,

There, they showed an armless woman who was grinding a hand organ with her toes. And all day long as you passed by you would hear that organ grinding away "Dixie." And a little thin man with black side whiskers standing in the door and hollering "O yes, gentlemen, O yes!" The tune the organ played in the hog show at Petersburg was "Captain Jinks." And then again in Norfolk we saw the littlest bit of a man that ever went on two legs. He was travelling around by himself selling his photographs. Major S. E. Houghton was his name. He was from Illinois and stood just 31 inches in his patent leather no. 8 child's boots. His weight was forty-one pounds. He was dressed in a swallow tail black broadcloth coat with a heavy gold watch and chain in his fob pocket and he strutted with a gold headed cane that was presented him by the citizens of Boston. The Major is making a Southern tour.

THERE IS A GOAT

At a place called Jerusalem near Norfolk that will drink whiskey like an old toper. A Mr. Williams who owns the goat told about it. He says he has frequently seen him get drunk and then "go for" and whip out all the old Billies in the neighborhood. Mr. Williams also mentioned what we never knew before; that all goats will chew tobacco. Just to think of it! Only two animals—and both hard cases—a goat and a man—chew tobacco.

A MARRIAGE IN PETERSBURG.

While in Petersburg last Thursday a couple were married in the evening by Mr. Gibson—an Episcopal Minister. The parties were Mr. GEORGE SIMPSON—an Insurance Agent in that city—and a Miss KENNEDY—said to be one of the handsomest ladies in the city. Miss Kennedy has only been a resident of the city for the last twelve months. She came from New Orleans. Many handsome bridal presents—we heard about two hundred dollars worth—were given the bride the day before the marriage. They took a bridal tour to New York.

A NEW JERSEY FARMER IN NORTH CAROLINA.

In Portsmouth we met with a very clever and substantial Jersey farmer on his way with his family to a farm he has bought in Warren county in this State. Chas J Hedden is his name. He has settled on the Raleigh and Gaston road at a place called Manson Depot. This gentleman has brought along with him four sheep the father of which was imported from England by Lorillard, the Snuff man, and cost four thousand dollars. These sheep are the Southdown species and he intends breeding from the Leicester cross. Their general average is two lambs to the sheep. They have black faces and black legs, are broad and low, and their white wool grows some eight inches long. He also brought plows he paid thirty six dollars apiece for and two Cultivators that cost him $120. He believes it cheaper to work a mule than a hand. Mr. Hedden has also a Devon, and an Aldernay Cow. The Devon gives near five gallons a day. He has already begun work on the old fruit trees on the place to save his fruit. He says he rakes the dirt away from around them and sprinkles ashes around so that the potash will kill the worm. And whenever immature fruit drops from his trees he lets his hogs eat it up so as to destroy the curculio; which if permitted to remain till the fruit rottened would deposit the worm back into the ground from whence it come.

HIS VIEWS ON POLITICS.

Sir—said Mr. Hedden—you newspaper men ought to correct the impression among my people in the North that you are not a peaceable and law abiding people. I tell you there are many good men with capital who would like to come down here and settle among you, but they read bitter articles copied from your newspapers, and it has a tendency to keep them away from you. (These words are from the mouth of a northern man who has come to make North Carolina his home.) Mr. Hedden intends building fish ponds on his place. He says he has fine springs and he intends having trout sent to him from New Jersey and to raise them on his place. The trout eggs are transported in bottles from the North.

WHAT WORK WILL DO.

Mr. Cowardin—the senior editor of the Richmond Dispatch, is now getting along in years. He owns and edits one of the most prominent of Southern newspapers. In 1825 Mr. Cowardin was a printer's boy in the Roanoke Sentinel Office in Danville. He told us that he once rode a pony to Milton and got a ream of paper from Benjamin Corey, who was then the editor of the Milton Gazette, and that he forded Dan River with the paper before him on the little pony and got very wet. They used to call the little pony about Danville the "Roanoke Sentinel with a paste cup on his back."

Gen. Littlefield as a Truth-teller.

A special dispatch from Washington to the N. York Post says:

General Littlefield has just arrived here from North Carolina. He brings a communication from Gov. Holden to the President officially calling for troops to suppress the disorders in Alamance county, which the Governor has, by proclamation, declared to be in a state of insurrection. This request will be laid before the President Monday.

Gen. Littlefield represents that the ku klux have caused a perfect reign of terror in several of the democratic counties of the State, and that murders are of daily occurrence. If peace is not restored the Governor will shortly declare several other counties in state of insurrection.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

☞ We want about five dozen regular Correspondents in Caswell and Person. Our Yanceyville, Milton, Leasburg and Pea Ridge correspondents will oblige us by writing oftener.

"CONSERVATIVE," was handed us too late for this issue.

☞ The Raleigh Standard has again changed hands, Gen. Littlefield having sold out to W. A. SMITH, Esq., President of the N C R R, who has secured the Editorial services of Mr. Joseph W. Holden—Col. Pike retiring to private life. We regret the abdication of Pike—he was a clever fish, and we were anticipating fun in angling for him this spring. Good-bye, "old hoss!" and may your shadow never desert you, unless you are caught sneaking into a "loil league" meeting! or dodging us behind that "Castalian fount!"

HOLLAND'S WAREHOUSE.

This favorite resort of our Planters still maintains its high standard of tall prices for Tobacco, as will be seen by reference to the "cracking" sales reported by Messrs. S. H. HOLLAND & Co. of Holland's Warehouse, in this issue.

This additional evidence of the increased activity of the Danville Tobacco Market cannot be otherwise than gratifying to our industrious Planters, whilst it speaks well for this Warehouse as successful Agents of the Planters, as well as for the liberality and nerve of the buyers.

With such prices as those reported, and which can be relied on as being correctly reported, no room is left for doubting the propriety of the planters taking their Tobacco there, with the assurance of getting the highest market price. And in doing so let them not forget that Holland's Warehouse is the place for the tallest prices and good treatment.

We advise the Planters to pitch heavy crops of the "weed" this year. It will pay. But don't neglect corn and potatoes, pork and beans. Raise a plenty of all, and some to spare.

THE BEST PLOW IN THE U. STATES.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD HAVE IT.

A number of the best Farmers in Georgia recommend the "EVANS Improved Farmer's Adjusting Plow" as the best Plow in the United States. They say it can be run from one to five inches deep with one horse wit hout the least difficulty; can use any common Plow-Hoe on them from a Subsoil to a Scrape; that the Evans Plow is the only genuine Adjusting Plow in the United States; that for running around Corn, Cotton, &c. it is unsurpassed, and you can break up your lands with it and cultivate any depth you may want with any kind of Plow Hoe; and that its use is almost equal to fertilizing. It runs light to the stock and is easy to manage.

This is a Georgia Plow and is taking precedence of all other Plows in that State. The patantee (J. D. EVANS, of Pleasant Hill, Ga.,) is desirous of introducing them in all the Southern States; they are adapted to all kinds of soil. (Advertisement next week.)

Mr. Green Andrews—a worthy and highly esteemed citizen of Alamance, had three grand-children born to him last week within the compass of twelve hours. They were the children of three married sons. Let old Alamance wear the honors.

FIRE!

We neglected to state in our last issue that we were aroused from our slumbers one night last week by the chimeing of the fire bells a little before day. We found the alarm occasioned by the burning of the Water-tank at the Hillsboro' depot on the N. C. Rail Road. Thinking that if the water in the tank couldn't put it out there was no use in our trying, we did not go to the scene of the fire, which we learn was accidental, but the tank was consumed—water and all!

At Work Again.

C. S. COOLEY, Cabinet Maker and Undertaker, of this place has fitted up a house in the rear of his dwelling, where he invites his friends and the public to call and see his furniture—you can be supplied with full sets of Furniture, Bedsteads, Chairs, of the latest pattern from a cradle up to a wardrobe and down to one of those splendid straw Cutters. He keeps Metallic Burial Cases, no extra charge for hearse, in fact everything in his line will be sold as cheap as can be afforded in the state. Give him a helping hand, as he deserves your patronage. Call and see him and he will give you a bargain.

Died in Missouri.

Hardy Hurdle who emigrated from Hurdle's Mills sometime in November last for the State of Missouri is now dead. He died on the 8th of last February. Eat his supper at his brother-in law and walked home, and died. Supposed to have been heart disease.

Dissatisfied.

One of our cleverest subscribers who has lately gone to Tennessee from Cedar Grove is so far very much dissatisfied with his new move. He writes back that the man out there who can curse the biggest oath, drink the most whiskey, and kill the most squirrels on Sunday, is considered the best one.

A Miscegenationist.

On board the boat as we traveled from Baltimore last week was a white woman who the Captain told us was the wife of Dr. Harris, the negro who ran for Lieutenant Governor of Virginia. She wore a sett of furs and had her state room like other ladies. The wench!

COMPANY SHOPS, N. C., March 12, 1870.

Editors Recorder—I am happy to inform you that the old master machinist (Mr. R. W. Wade,) is again in charge of the Shops at this place. Mr. Wm. Green has also been appointed master of transportation, &c., on the N. C. R. R.

This place is rapidly improving. The Railroad Shops are a beautiful sight. The employees are good workmen and well-behaved men. Mr. Wade is very much liked by the mechanics and all others that know him.

The emigrants are going off from here daily—they can't stand the taxes. Mr. Sher. Badger, who is the popular and efficient Ticket Agent at this point, went to Greensborough a few days ago and secured Eighty emigrants seats on emigrant terms. He is a number one Rail Road officer.

We have eight "blue coats" stationed here to catch ku klux and keep the peace. They have 25 at Graham. I do not think putting the County under martial law and sending troops here will tend in the least to quiet things. But nous verrons—that is, we shall see.

Mr. J. G. Moore has established here a large Tan Yard, which is quite an addition to the village.

I have heard a good many speaking highly complimentary of your paper and I hope you will get numerous subscribers in this section. More anon.

Yours in a hurry, C.

From our Special Correspondent.

FLAT RIVER, March 10th, 1870.

We are all astir upon the subject of tobacco shipping and tobacco raising, our farmers are realising high prices for their tobacco. We raise and cure the finest tobacco that goes to the Richmond and Danville markets. The territory in Orange east of Flat River comprising the one sixteenth part of the county will sell the tobacco crop for $20,000. Now suppose the whole county grew as much of the weed and of the same quality, it would amount to the aggregate of $320,000 which would go far to restore prosperity to our impoverished people. We are importing good deal of corn from Norfolk. Our farmers are going to use large quantities Peruvian guano in their tobacco crops. Our lands are advancing in price, and the best of all, we are trying to get out of debt.

We are much pleased with the improved appearance of our old weekly visitor, the Hillsboro Recorder; we think it merits a more liberal patronage from our people, for the writer of this considers it a very readable and entertaining sheet.

DeWitt C. Umstead, a very industrious and worthy citizen had cut down a tree which lodged and to get it down, cut another one upon it which glanced off and struck him and broke both bones of one of his legs, Dr. Holt set the bones and he is doing well.

William Bass an industrious old man lost a barn of tobacco last Thursday by fire. His little child carried some fire to the barn and set fire to some oat straw. Loss some $200.

Politically, we feel somewhat revived by hearing this afternoon that Deweese has resigned his seat in Congress, for we look upon Deweese as a complete failure, even as a radical. We would be more pleased to hear of the resignation of the larger part of our Legislature.

On Monday night of the 28th Feb. the smoke house of James N. Lunsford was entered by some thief by prizing off the logs, and stole 11 pieces of bacon which belonged to his son Paschall. No clue to the rogue.

Married on the 2nd. instant, by Rev. A. W Mangum, John W. Bowen to Susan Ann Bowling daughter of Priestly Bowling.

Also on 19th day of Jan. last, by Rev. A. W. Mangum, A. W. Umstead to Nannie L. Bowling, daughter of William Bowling Sen.

Town Diary.

Fruit is all right.

March winds and rain.

Professor Wilson is teaching a singing school in town. He is an accomplished master of his art and is drawing crowded houses.

Utley has a tame bear hitched to a tree in this town and he makes him perform all manner of tricks for a penny thrown into a hat.

Major Hamilton of the old thirteenth N. C. Regiment is teaching a male school in Hillsboro. Let the parents of all around this section send their children. There is no better place for them.

Dave Clark is fixing the gallows to hang the Blalock murderers.

Three negroes—stout and hearty—were put in jail the other day for stealing an old carpet sack and a pair of ear bobs. They will no doubt eat up the expenses of the county in bull beef.

New Advertisements

See Advertisement of the Commissioners "$200 reward.

Dr. Hooker offers valuable land for Sale. A good opportunity for investment.

Township Board, attend to your list in time.

At the Drug Store of Capt. Whitted, nice things to be found.

Jas. Webb Jr., offers cheap goods at living rates.

Norfolk and Her Advertisers.

It has long been a fixed principle in the life of our paper never to advertise for any business House and recommend it to the Trade, unless we are pretty well assured of its high and respectable standing. Old Norfolk—the soon to be Chicago of the South—has treated us well. Her first class business men talked business at us and pitched us their cards as if they meant business; and they do mean it. And they mean it on the most square and liberal terms. It behooves our people to give their timely attention to the business cards of these advertisers. There are many reasons for so doing. First:—You all pretend to be, and no doubt are, intensely Southern. Second:—You can stop at the OCEAN HOUSE in Portsmouth—only pay for what you eat and at moderate rates in the bargain, and do your buying in Norfolk, at a less expense than if you go farther north. Of course with some few large firms there may be a necessity for purchasing some few of their goods in Baltimore and New York—but the truth is the thing that causes most of country merchants north is just the name of the thing, and then may-be they can enjoy a quiet revel in the bowery blossoms and budding pleasures of a "walk up Broadway." But you are green. The yankee makes off you. He fattens—he sucks you like a leech. Your own southern men who offer you just as good bargains as you can get farther north are the proper men for you to deal with. We believe this else we would not write it. In calling attention to the name of our Norfolk advertisers we have striven to tell the truth on each Firm so far as we are able to know it, and so far as we had evidence from out the mouths of disinterested parties in the city who gave us the general repute of each House we might happen to have been unacquainted with. And now but one more word. These are all good houses. The best. Their money pays us for their advertising—and it is spent here—among you—our people. Then please be thoughtful enough in going to this city to give every House the preference that advertises in your own country paper. You can safely do that: for we assure you that we advertise for none but the best and first class Houses in the south. Then for the list. It reads:

For Boots and Shoes:—BOTTIMORE MARROW & Co., clever and faithful business men.

STRAW GOODS, FURS, WOOL &c:—

PICKETT & Co. Maj. Pickett of this House is the gallant brother of Gen. Pickett, and is well known to our Danville boys for his services in the field.

CHINA, GLASS and EARTHENWARE:—

T. R. GARY & Co. Our old advertisers of whom you have bought before. They still sell at the same old place.

Hardware, Cutlery and Guns:—

W R HUDGINS & Co—the same clever young men whom to know you are bound to like and place confidence in.

Hardware, Cutlery, Gilling Thread and Cotton Twine:

J G WOMBLE & Co—an old and popular House and one that deals on the square.

Hardware:—TAYLOR, MARTIN &Co. A splendid House. Here you will find Col. TAYLOR—"old uncle Bob's" Adjutant General. He is one of this worthy and reliable Firm.

Fancy Goods—Foreign and Domestic:

YANCEY BROTHERS. These gentlemen are well known in the Caswell and Person section. You can get anything you want in the Fancy Notion Line from a spool of cotton to a watch key. Call on 'em.

Crockery and China:—MARTIN and ROGERS. A House of high repute and will interest you to visit and look over the Stock.

Booksellers and Stationers:—CHARLES W. WILSON & Co. These gentlemen have a splendid variety of everything in this line embracing Job paper of all sorts and of the nicest kinds. They are also Printers and Booksellers.

Dry Goods and Notions:—MILLAR GRANDY & ROBERTS. Grandy is a "tar heel," known pretty generally to the Trade of our State. They have a beautiful stock. Well selected.

Sofas, Divans, Carpets, Furniture & c:—L. SALISBURY. He has a splendid assortment of house furnishing goods and his furniture is cheap, well made and reliable.

Tin, Wood and Willow Ware.—ROBERT NOTT. This young gentleman hails from Richmond and has lately commenced in Norfolk. He was a faithful soldier in Lee's army and his excellent stock is deserving of patronage—especially the style of baskets we noticed in his store.

Importer and Wholesale Druggist:—T D TOY. One of the most reliable Drug Firms in the city. The Mr. Toy, Senior, is a veteran in the Drug Trade and his experience in his business renders him the best of Norfolk Druggists.

Shell Lime:—Our old friend JOHN O. GAMAGE still keeps the best Fertilizers.

Portsmouth.

"Here's your JOHN! JOHN SMITH!! the very best Liquor Dealer South. Keeps a few doors below the Ocean House.

Our Petersburg Advertisers.

This gallant little Cockade city is going to speak again in our section for her share of the Trade that has well nigh slipped through her hands, compared as it it was in days of long ago. We love little Petersburg. Suffered too much around her—for her—with her—not to love her. Let our people not forget the Houses we invite their trade to; for they are the oldest and best. None better in the North.

First and oldest:—MCILWAINE & Co—Wholesale Grocers and Com. Merchants. The name of this old Firm is enough. We trust it will renew old acquaintances in our section.

PLUMMER, YOUNG & Co.,—A firm well known to this section, keeps Hardware. Regarded as the most substantial of houses.

JAMES, MARSHALL, & Co:—Grocers and Commission Merchants, Dry Goods, Clothing and Notions. A large and splendid House. Mr. James—though a gray headed man—was in the army to the last on Gen. Kemper's staff. This excellent Firm will take produce of any sort in exchange for anything in their Line.

Olive Oil, Licorice and Tonqua Beans:—R A YOUNG & Co. The Company to this House is Capt. JOHN D. YOUNG. He was the gallant commander of the skirmish corps in Pender's old Brigade (then under Gen. Scales and known as Scales' Brigade.) The old thirteenth remembers Young. The very last fight just out of Farmville the writer saw Young seize a flashy officer's scarf he wore around him and dash forward flirting it in the faces of the yankees whom we were charging to get possession of a position of breast-works. Patronize this firm. We'll vouch for it.

Agricultural Implements &c:—GILLIAM & DUNLOP. These gentlemen were wont to command a large Trade in our section. It is a very worthy House and we are sure that our people would be much pleased in patronizing it.

Drugs &c &c:—FRENCH and CAMP. These young men have a clean and beautiful Drug Store. They are polite and are full of accommodation and civility to a stranger. This itself is going to insure them success.

JORDAN & CARR:—Old and popular Druggists. Keep a supply for the Trade.

DAVIS DRAKE & CO:—Dry Goods men. One of the most elegant establishments in the city.

Boots and Shoes:—FALKENER & Co. One of the most elegant establishments in Petersburg. Mr. Falkener of this Firm is well known to the people about Haw River. He is a true blue North Carolinian and so are his partners.

Commission Merchants:—JONES and PLUMMER. These gentlemen are both North Carolinians. The people in some of our sections—through Caswell and Person—as well as in Pittsylvania and Halifax—(Va) are already well acquainted with this well established House. They are Agents for Baugh's Raw Bone Phosphate—a fertilizer which should be secured by all farmers. It is but proper here that we thank Mr. Plummer of this Firm for many kind attentions bestowed. These gentlemen get the best prices for tobacco and all kinds of produce sent them—and their standing is sure and established.

Tobacco, Wheat &c:—JOS. E. VENABLE & Co—Commission Merchants. This is another well known and popular old tobacco house. The planters around Caswell and near Danville are mighty well acquainted with it. We trust that our farmers will not give Petersburg the go by. We are satisfied that both of these Houses will handle their grain and "yellow leaf" for them to as much advantage as in any other market. And there's nothing like "giving all a trial"—where we are satisfied of the honesty and reliability of the House. And this paper publishes for no other kind than good houses. Mr. Williamson—who lived in Danville a few years ago—is of the Firm.

Men and Boys' Clothing:—JACOB KULL and SONS. This is the largest House of the kind in the South. There are 3 branches of it in this city. You get anything and everything you want in the Merchandise line. And his prices are very moderate. Be sure and try it.

The Season and its Dangers.

The human body is chiefly composed of tissues and fibres as sensitive to every change in the condition of the atmosphere as the most delicate electrometer or the quicksilver in a barometer tube.

The stomach, the skin, the nerves, the lungs, and the excretory organs are especially liable to be affected by these variations, and the best defence against their disastrous tendency is to keep the digestive machinery, which feeds and nourishes the the whole system, in good working order.

If the stomach is weak or disodered neither the blood nor the bile can be in a healthy state and upon the fitness of these two important fluids for the offices assigned to them by nature, and the regularity of their flow, health in a great measure depends.

When the air is heavily laden with chilling vapors, as it often is at this season of the year, the digestion should be an object of peculiar care. If it is weak and languid, the whole physical structure will be enervated. If it is vigorous, the entire organization will be strong to resist the untoward and depressing influence of a damp and vitiated atmosphere.

A pure and powerful tonic is therefore especially needed as a safeguard against the diseases most common in the spring, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters being the most wholesome and potent medicine of the class at present known, a course of it is particularly advisable at this period of the year. The stomach will therefore be toned and strengthened, the liver and bowels regulated, the nervous system braced up, and nature put in a state of active defence against the miasma which superinduces intermittent and remittent fevers, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache, hypochondria and other complaints which are apt to assail the untoned and unfortified organizations. The body is strengthened and without exciting the brain, and consequently no unpleasant reaction follows its reviving and renovating operation.

Died,

In Milton, N. C., about 4 o'clock on Sunday morning last, after a protracted illness which she bore with true christian fortitude and resignation, Miss MARY HOLDER, a young lady who possessed all the refined graces of her sex and who died as she lived, a true and most exemplary christian.—She was a member of the Presbyterian church of Milton, and was highly esteemed and beloved by all who knew her.

In Milton, recently, Mr. NICHOLAS FITZGERALD, a young man beloved by all his acquaintances and whose fondness for books and literature gave promise of the rising man. He died of consumption, ere he merged into mature manhood, and we trust that his soul—so prematurely called from earth—reposes in heaven.

POLITICAL.

Spring.

Winter's stormy reign is o'er,
Snow-flakes steal from every door;
Mornings bathed in rosy light
Chase the silent hours of night.
Zephyrs through the trees are straying;
Listen! hush! What are they saying?

ZEPHYR'S SONG.

Flow, brooklets, flow,
Glide o'er your pebbly beds;
Go, cold winds, go,
Sweet flow'rets, lift your heads;
Sing, song-birds, sing,
While merry sunbeams play;
Spring, gentle Spring,
Comes smiling forth to-day.

CHORUS.

Spring! Spring! beautiful Spring!
In robes of fresh verdue,
What joy thou dost bring!
We hail thee with rapture,
Thou spirit so bright;
Enchantress, we greet thee
With purest delight.

Spring! Spring! beautiful Spring!
How full of glad music
The songs thou dost sing!
All Nature is waking
Beneath thy soft skies,
Unveiling new beauties
To gladden our eyes.

Song of the Flowers.

We come, we come from the Spirit Land,
Obeying the wave of a Mighty Hand.
Colors as bright
As rare gems of light
Lie in our petals unfolded;
Gay zephyrs kiss,
With rapturous bliss,
Our leaves, by fairy hands moulded.

We come, we come. Ah! what joy is ours!
As we fill our cups with the sparkling showers,
Or sip the dew
By the moonlight blue,
While stars shine brightly above us;
Our only care
To fling in the air
Rich perfumes for those who love us.

Spice.

A wit, being told that an old acquaintance was married, exclaimed, "I am glad of it!" But reflecting a moment, he added, in a tone of compassion and forgiveness, "and yet I don't know why I should be—he never did me any harm."

"Well, John, which do you think was right?" "Why master, I think the bald-headed gentleman was wrong!" "Why do you think so, John?" "Because, master, he lost his temper, and abused t'othor gentleman, and I've always noticed that in an argument the man that's in the wrong is the man that gets mad."

We find in a French journal the following dialogue between two married ladies: "My dear, the first month after my wedding I was on my knees before my husband from morning till evening. It was a perpetual adoration, an incessant delirium, an inexpressible felicity. I overwhelmed him with caresses. I think I could have eaten h'm." ", And now?" "Now I am right sorry I didn't!"

Loving his Enemies.—A clergyman was reproving an old farmer for his revengeful conduct towards tho e who had offen'ed him. "You should love your enemies," said he, "and preserve an affection for those who hurt you." "I do love my enemies," retorted the farmer, "and have a great affection for those who hurt me." "No such thing," returned the clergyman; "you don't love your enemies." "I do." "Who are the enemies you love?" "Rum and cider."

A Case of decided non-committal—

Old Lady. Can you tell me, my good man, where I can find Mr. Jones?

Pat. Sure, ma'am, I expect it would be at his house ye would find him.

Lady. Does he live anywhere in the street here?

Pat. Sure, no indade. It's not for the likes of him to be living in the street at all.

Lady. You stupid fellow! I mean what number does his family stop at?

Pat. Now, ma'am, you have me! He has six boys and four girls already; but whether he means to stop at that number.

Lady. Oh, you blockhead! [Exit Old Lady in a tremor of indignation].

COLORED THEOLOGY.—"Say Mr. Junis is dar any place in de Bible whar a cullur'd pusson is mention'd?" said Cesnar to his friend.

"Well dar is, an' if you'd been to meet'n Sunday ye'd heard the preacher read how Nigger Demus wanted to be born agin.'

"Wh' wh! what he want to be born agin fer?'

'I dunno? I spec the thought he might be born a white man next time; an' dar's a good many niggers alible now jest like old Demus, but dey'll allers be niggers any how.'

'Ah! me, friend Cesnar, we's niggers and we's gwine be niggers. We's gwine look nigger, and we's gwine smell nigger, no matter what sort mush an' klown we put on, I tell you, we's niggers as long as de bref stays in dis mortal coil, so now shet up.'

A New England Editor wrote a leading article on the fair sex, in the course of which he said: "Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of beaus." When the paper was issued, he was rather shocked to discover that an unfortunate typographical error had made him say: "Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of "beans."
